

KIARA

Flowers & Greens

Our story

Kiara Flowers is an Ecuadorian flower farm with decades of experience preserving the natural beauty of the world's finest flowers and greens.

Every stem begins its journey in our fields, where it is carefully grown and hand-harvested at the perfect stage of bloom. Through our unique preservation process, each flower retains its natural beauty, softness, and elegance for years.

What began as a passion for Ecuadorian flowers has evolved into a brand trusted by customers around the world. Guided by a dream to preserve nature's beauty, we continue to innovate, expand our collection, and reach new markets.

Every flower tells a story, and ours is still being written. We remain committed to inspiring designers, florists, and flower lovers with preserved flowers that bring everlasting beauty to the world.

Turning a Dream into reality

At Kiara Flowers, our vision comes to life through a unique preservation process that captures the natural beauty of Ecuadorian flowers, preserving their shape, color, and softness for years.

By transforming nature into lasting creations, our preserved flowers become timeless arrangements, elegant décor, and inspiring floral art that can be enjoyed for years.

From our fields to destinations around the world, every step is guided by exceptional care and attention to detail, ensuring that every stem reflects the elegance, authenticity, and everlasting beauty of Ecuadorian flowers.

Why Kiara Flowers?

1. Premium Raw Material

Every exceptional preserved flower begins with exceptional raw material. We carefully cultivate and hand-harvest each flower at the perfect stage of bloom, ensuring the freshness and quality needed for outstanding preservation.

2. Lower Carbon Footprint

Thanks to their long lifespan, preserved flowers are shipped mainly by sea instead of air, reducing emissions while reaching customers around the world.

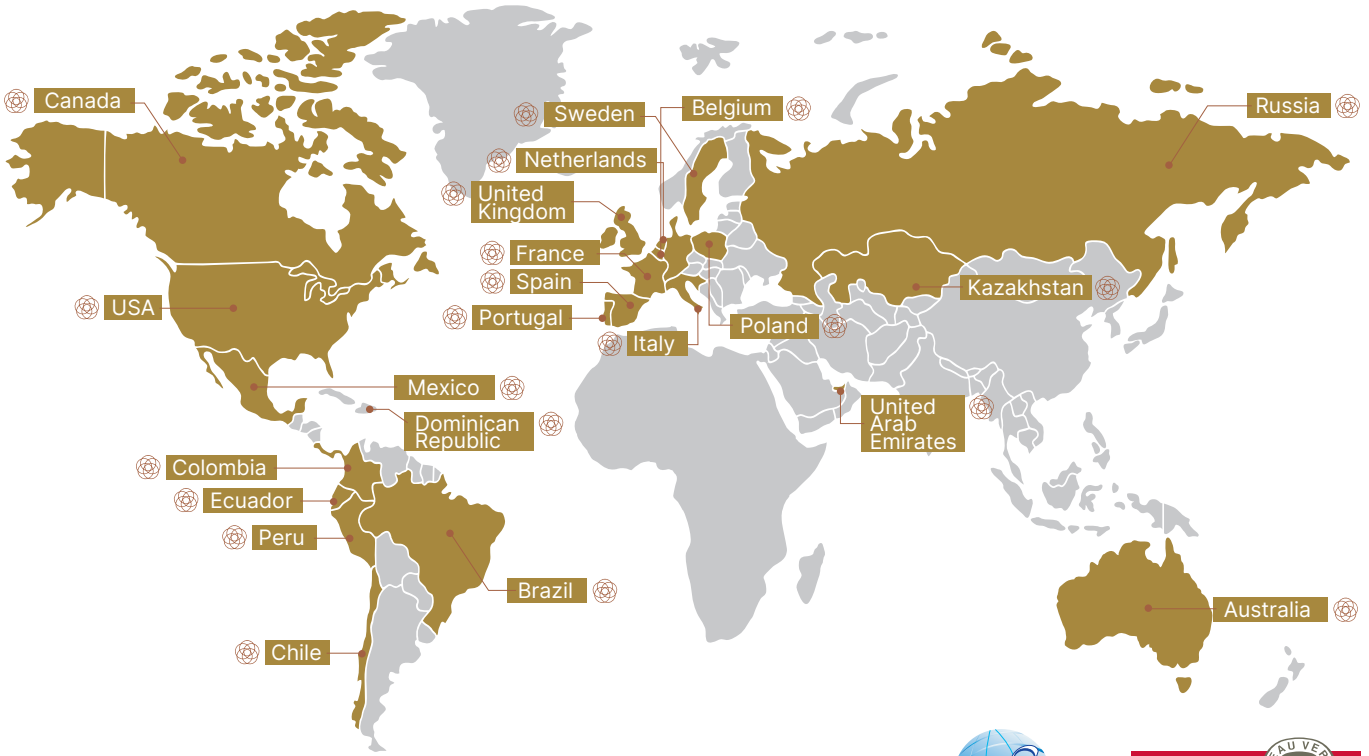

3. Zero Waste

Preserved flowers offer significant advantages throughout the supply chain:

- 0% loss during transportation.
- 0% loss during storage when properly handled.
- 0% loss due to product expiration.
- A long-lasting product that maximizes your investment.

4. A Longer Lifespan

Preserved flowers last up to 50 times longer than fresh flowers, maintaining their natural beauty for years and creating memorable spaces and lasting experiences.

The people behind Kiara

Behind every Kiara flower is a team of passionate people who bring our vision to life. Nearly 80% of our team is made up of women who lead and support their families while carefully growing, preserving, and sharing the lasting beauty of Ecuadorian flowers with the world.

We are proud to create opportunities in the communities where our farms are located, including Sangolquí, Tabacundo, and Puembo, helping people and communities grow together.

We believe our success is built together. That is why we are committed to supporting our people, encouraging personal and professional growth, and caring for the families who are part of Kiara Flowers.
